Lymphoreticular system | Clinical Gate

The lymphoreticular system consists of organs (lymph nodes, spleen, thymus) and ill-defined tissues (mucosa-associated lymphoid tissue) that are concerned with the growth, development and deployment of white blood cells.

Biopsy Pathology of the Lymphoreticular System : Dennis H ...

Biopsy pathology of the lymphoreticular system has been written primarily for diagnostic histopathologists although we hope that other workers in the field of lymphoreticular disease will find it of interest and value.
