The government is appropriately reticent about dismantling capital controls and allowing freer cross-border movement of capital without having a robust and well-functioning financial system in place.

French Government's public policies, strategies and ...
France's industrial policy priorities are outlined in this document. They are the fruit of several months work to identify France's key advantages in a globalized world, and the growth markets on which our efforts should be focused, our means aligned, our funding targeted and our industrial sectors united. These priorities are in the form of 34 sector-based initiatives that will be the
