"Intent" and "intention" | Ask The Editor | Learner's ...

Intent and intention share meanings and overlap in use, but they are not completely interchangeable. Both words mean "the thing that you plan to do or achieve : an aim or purpose." Often they can be used interchangeably. She thinks I'm trying to make things difficult for her, but that's not my intent /intention. It was the explicit intent/intention of the architect to suggest a church steeple
What is the difference between intention and motivation ...

The difference between Intention and Motivation is how you feel. Intention isn't a feeling. It's a thought. You can intend to do something but never actually have the feeling like you want or need to do it. It's simply a thought. Motivation is a feeling. It's a feeling you get when you have a strong desire to do something. BUT, that still doesn't mean you're actually going to do it.
